

December 2017

Perfect World

Lauren Farmer
New York Medical College

Follow this and additional works at: https://touroscholar.touro.edu/quill_and_scope

Part of the Arts and Humanities Commons, and the Medicine and Health Sciences Commons

Recommended Citation

Farmer, L. (2017). Perfect World. Quill & Scope, 10 (1). Retrieved from

This Poetry and Creative Writing is brought to you for free and open access by the Students at Touro Scholar. It has been accepted for inclusion in Quill & Scope by an authorized editor of Touro Scholar. . For more information, please contact touro.scholar@touro.edu.

Perfect World

In a perfect world
Birth Control would be 100%
All men
And all religions
Would respect women
and their decisions about pregnancy
Every person would have comprehensive sex education
Condoms would not break
Birth control would not have side effects
All children would be wanted
And cared for
All women would have enough money to raise all their children
Including the one(s) on the way
“Birth Control Sabotage”
Would not be a thing.
Men wouldn’t hit
Rape would not happen
Mistakes would not happen
Fetuses would not miscarry
Children would not become pregnant
People would not change their minds
New jobs would not change the plan
Once in a lifetime opportunities would not be once in a lifetime
Drugs and alcohol would not be teratogenic
Birth defects would not exist
Men would support their wives/girlfriends/hookups/one-night-stands
Regardless of outcome

And women would not seek to terminate their unwanted pregnancies.

1 in 3 women in the United States would not have an Abortion.

This is not a perfect world.