THE NEW ALUMNUS TRUSTEE

Frederick M. Dearborn of the class of 1900, was recently nominated by the Alumni Association and appointed by the Board of Trustees of the College to fill the position occupied by the late Samuel Barlow Moore. We are very fortunate to have such an outstanding man in this position.

He was born in Boston, Massachusetts on July 13, 1876, the son of Henry M. Dearborn, Professor of Dermatology at our College. He graduated from the Townsend Harris Hall and four years later received his A.B. degree from the College of the City of New York in 1897. He graduated from the New York Medical College in 1900. He served an undergraduate internship at Cumberland Street Hospital, Brooklyn and as extern at the Flower Hospital from 1900-1901. He then did postgraduate work in Dermatology in Paris, Berlin and Vienna as well, special studies in pellagra in Italy in 1906 and investigations in certain tropical diseases in South America before and after that date.

He is a life member of the Veterans of the Seventh Regiment, Sons of the Revolution, Society of Colonial Wars, Continental Lodge No. 287, F. and A.M. of all the Scottish Rite Bodies of the Valley of New York and the Mecca Temple of the Mystic Shrine. He is a member of Delta Kappa Epsilon, the Alpha Chapter of Phi Alpha Gamma, Military Order of Foreign Wars, Seventh Regiment New York Post No. 107 of the American Legion, Army Athletic Association, National Geographic Society, Metropolitan Museum of Art, American Museum of Natural History and the Manuscript Society.

He served as Demonstrator and Lecturer on Anatomy at the College. He has written or edited eleven books, five of which concerned his specialty, the others being of a travel or historical nature including the "History of the Metropolitan Hospital" which appeared in 1937. He served in the Spanish American War, was promoted to Lieutenant Colonel, and Chief of Medical Service, Base Hospital No. 48, and Commanding Officer of the Convalescent Camp, Mars Hospital Center, September 1918. He was decorated with the Order of the Purple Heart and other decorations.

He has been a member of many medical societies, serving in various official capacities in many of them as First Vice-President and President. He is a Fellow of the American Academy of Dermatology and Syphilology since its start, Diplomate of the American Board of Dermatology and Syphilology, Society for Investigative Dermatology, Association of Military Surgeons and a life member of the American Medical Society of Vienna. He has been visiting or consulting Dermatologist to twelve different hospitals in New York, Connecticut and New Jersey. He was a member of the staff of the Metropolitan Hospital for 35 years, serving as Vice-President and President of the Medical Board. Professor of Dermatology and head of the Department of New York Medical College up until the time he resigned in 1940.

OUR NEW DEAN

The appointment of Ralph E. Snyder, M.D. '50, as the fourteenth Dean of the College by the Board of Trustees on July 1, 1954, has been announced by the President of the College, J.A.W. Hetrick, M.D. '17.

Dr. Snyder, son of Mrs. Ralph G. Snyder and the late Mr. Snyder, was born in Herkimer, New York. He graduated from Harvard College in 1943 with the degree of Bachelor of Arts. Following three years of service with the Army in the China-Burma-India theatre, he entered New York Medical College and received his M.D. in 1950. He interned at the Flower and Fifth Avenue Hospitals. He was appointed Assistant Dean in 1951 and in 1953 was appointed Executive Dean of the College. Since his association with the College, Dr. Snyder has fostered and preserved the traditions of New York Medical College.

Dr. Snyder now makes his home in Hastings-on-Hudson. His wife is the former Miss Jacqueline Beekman Tallman of New York and they have one son, Ralph Gordon.

The History Of New York Medical College Flower And Fifth Avenue Hospitals

(From the Current College Catalog)

The New York Medical College was chartered in 1860 by the New York State Legislature. For almost a century since this date, it has continued educating physicians and nurses without interruption. The first academic session began in the Fall of the same year under the administration of William Cullen Bryant, author, editor, and distinguished liberal. There were fifty-nine students who enrolled for the opening session. This was one of the first medical colleges to be established in New York City and is one of the few in the nation which have survived throughout the years under unbroken succession of authority. As provided for in its charter, the college and its hospitals have never deviated from their original purpose of providing professional education and medical care as a public service. These contributions to the community have been made possible by the continued gifts of philanthropic individuals.

The college rapidly outgrew its original quarters on East Twentieth Street. After a series of moves, arrangements were made in 1872 for the college to share a building with the New York Ophthalmic Hospital on the northeast corner of Twenty-third Street and Third Avenue. The close relations between the two institutions have continued throughout the intervening years. The Graduate College of the New York Ophthalmic Hospital pioneered in systematic instruction in ophthalmology, otology, and rhinolaryngology. Thus it was granted exclusive authority to confer a graduate degree in these fields by the state legislature.

In 1889, having continued its forward progress, the New York Medical College moved into its newly constructed building at York Avenue and Sixty-third Street. This was adjacent to a new hospital which was provided largely through the generosity of Roswell P. Flower, John D. Rockefeller, and David Dows. The hospital was named for Governor Flower. From this time on, the college has had the distinction of owning both its hospital and dispensary facilities. Subsequent additions were made to the physical plant in 1896, 1901, 1914 and 1917. In 1932, the amicable relations which had so long existed between the college and the New York Ophthalmic Hospital were consummated in a formal affiliation, and the hospital and dispensary were moved to the college campus. Three years later the hospital and outpatient activities of all these institutions were transferred to the Fifth Avenue Hospital building at 105th Street and Fifth Avenue where the interests of all groups—college and hospitals—were combined and centralized. In June, 1938, a merger was completed between the College and the Fifth Avenue Hospital, and under the authorization of the state legislature the corporate title of the institution became New York Medical College, Flower and Fifth Avenue Hospitals. The following month saw the ground broken for the new medical college and dispensary buildings immediately adjoining the Flower and Fifth Avenue Hospitals. Eleven months later, the New York Ophthalmic Hospital and its graduate college were merged with the medical college, thus completing further steps in the creation of the Fifth Avenue Medical Center.

The Progressive academic character of the college has been constant and noteworthy. It was among the first of the medical colleges to develop a three-year graded and scheduled curriculum. It was also one of the first institutions to utilize bedside teaching extensively as an instructional technique. It is among the leaders in the field in permitting undergraduate students to pursue suitable research projects, or to participate in those which are normally a part of the college program. It constantly seeks to improve all phases of professional education, and it is presently broadening its program for graduate instruction. In this respect, the college was one of the first to adopt a three-year systematic curriculum leading to graduate degrees in the clinical specialties and the basic medical sciences. The college is empowered to grant the graduate degrees of Master of Medical Science, Doctor of Medical Science, Doctor of Public Health, and Doctor of Dental Surgery. It is also authorized to award baccalaureate degrees in the fields of Medical Technology and Nursing Education, as well as honorary degrees in the fields of Science and the Humanities.

PERSONALS

Please send personal items to the News
Editor, 1 East 105th Street, N.Y.C. 29.

With the institution of a new policy, a permanent Class Secretary will be chosen by the graduating senior class beginning with the class of 1954. The name and address of the Class Secretary will be printed in the Chironian, in the Personal Column.

It will be the duty of the Class Secretary to keep in touch with his classmates, to report regularly any class news to the editor, and in general, to act as liaison officer with the College and with the Alumni Association.

The senior class presidents of the previous years are invited to contact the editor with the purpose of designating Class Secretaries for their respective classes. It is important that the Class Secretary be geographically located in the metropolitan area.

Class Secretary
Jean Anita Krag

55 Park Avenue, New York, N. Y.

Harold Steinberg was invited to participate in a discussion on the paper "Our Heritage From William Osler—1954" on May 12th at the New York Academy of Medicine.

Herve M. Byron writes from the University of Chicago Clinics: The four B's from Flower William Bora, Stanley Burrows, Marvin Berk and Yours truly are upholding the reputation of our Alma Mater. All have already been offered residencies for the following year—However, only Stan Burrows plans to try to start a residency—the 3 of us are entering the armed forces. We initiated the social season out here by giving a cocktail party for the intern staff—turned out to be a great success.

Sanford Anzel writes: "Enjoying the life in the Golden West. San Francisco an intriguing town. Burt Weiss '49 just finished as Chief Resident in Neurosurgery here at U. of California Medical Center. In the midst of moving into a new 500 bed hospital for teaching patients only! Have an appointment for a 3 year Fellowship in General Surgery at Mayo Clinic, but Uncle Sam will probably get me before I get there."

THE NEW DEPARTMENTS OF PHYSIOLOGY AND PHARMACOLOGY

The Department of Physiology and Pharmacology, formerly under the direction of Dr. James W. Benjamin, has been expanded into two new departments, the Department of Physiology under the direction of Dr. Charles Haig and the Department of Pharmacology under the direction of Dr. David Lehr.

DR. CHARLES HAIG

Dr. Charles Haig, Professor and Director of the new Department of Physiology has been with New York Medical College since 1942 when he started as Assistant Professor of Physiology and Biochemistry. He received his training in Biophysics and Physiology at Columbia University where he engaged in research and teaching for eleven years, including five years at the Columbia Research Division for Chronic Diseases. His work in normal and abnormal vision is internationally known.

DR. DAVID LEHR

Professor and Director Of The New Department of Pharmacology

Dr. David Lehr is a pupil of Professor E. P. Pick, the well-known Austrian pharmacologist, who headed the famous Vienna School of Pharmacologists founded by his teacher, Hans Horst Meyer.

Dr. Lehr received his M.D. degree from the University of Vienna Medical School in 1935 and started his training in Internal Medicine and Pharmacology at that institution. After serving as instructor at the University of Vienna for three years, he was appointed Instructor in Pharmacology at the Royal University of Lund in Sweden in 1938. He joined the faculty of our institution in 1941 and rose from the ranks of Instructor in Pharmacology and Medicine, to Assistant Professor in 1944, and Associate Professor in 1949.

Dr. Lehr's best known research projects, extending over a period of almost fourteen years, are his experimental and clinical studies with sulfonamides, which resulted in the development of the "Sulfonamide Mixture Principle". He has published extensively on this subject, and produced numerous convention exhibits, winning the Certificate of Merit from the AMA in 1948, from the Association of Military Surgeons of the United States in 1949 and the First Award for Clinical Research from the Medical Society of the State of New York in the same year.

For the last four years Dr. Lehr has been engaged also in studies on Experimental Arteriosclerosis and Hypertension under the auspices of the National Heart Institute.

Dr. Lehr is a member of a number of medical and scientific societies and a Fellow of the American College of Physicians, the American College of Cardiology, and the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

Dr. Lehr was recently appointed Chairman of the Joint Research Committee of this institution, the Metropolitan Hospital and the Bird S. Coler Hospital and Home. He was also elected a member of the Council of the Society of Experimental Biology and Medicine and a member of the Special Committee on Infant Mortality of the Medical Society of the County of New York.

COLLEGE AND FACULTY NEWS

The college has recently been presented with a grant of $72,000 from the United Cerebral Palsy Association of New York City for the establishment of a rehabilitation and training center. The center will be under the direction of Dr. Jerome S. Tobis, Professor and Director of the Department of Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation. This service will be located at the Bird S. Coler Hospital and will be operated in cooperation with the Department of Hospitals and the Department of Health of New York State.

Dr. Carl Neuberg, Professorial Associate in Biochemistry was awarded the Grand Cross of Merit of the Order of Merit of the Republic of West Germany.

The Fourth Edition of "Human Biochemistry" by Israel S. Kleiner, Ph.D., Professor and Director of the Department of Biochemistry, appeared in August. A new edition of "Laboratory Instructions in Biochemistry" by Dr. Kleiner and Dr. Louis B. Dotti also was published at the same time.

Dr. David Lehr, Professor and Director of Pharmacology, read a paper on "Severe Cardiovascular Disease and Hypertension Induced in the Albino Rat with the Help of Obstructive Nephropathy" before the Second International Cardiological Congress in Washington, D. C. on September 16, 1954. From October 4th to 7th he showed his exhibit on "The Present Status of Sulfonamide Therapy" in Chicago, at the invitation of the American Academy of Pediatrics. This same exhibit is at present on display at the 27th Graduate Fortnight of the New York Academy of Medicine and will be shown at the invitation of the American Academy of General Practice at its next meeting in Los Angeles in March of 1955. Dr. Lehr was also asked to address the "Graduate Symposium on Geriatric Medicine" meeting in New York City in November of this year on "Problems of Chemotherapy in the Older Age Group" and to serve as a member of the panel discussion on heart disease at this symposium.

CHRISTOPHER TRITSCH RETIRES

Christopher Tritsch, lay secretary of the Alumni Association ceased his work here on September 1, 1954. He had been connected with the Institution for over 20 years, first as part-time secretary for the State and County Homeopathic Society, then as lay secretary of the Alumni Association in 1939. Since that time, he has served us faithfully, giving without stint his valuable services so that he became much beloved by all the members of the Association. He was particularly valuable in his care of the records and personals, especially of the boys overseas, so much so that their numerous letters show their great appreciation of his excellent services. We all wish him God Speed.

The New Secretary of the Alumni Association and The Alumni Fund of the College

Miss Martha Benson formerly of the Dean's office has been appointed our Secretary. We are very fortunate in securing a young lady who has already shown a great interest and responsibility in her new work.

On October 27th, he reads a paper on the "Comprehensive Testing of Gastric Secretory Function" at the First National Convention of the American College of Gastroenterology in Washington, D.C.

On November 19th, he takes part by invitation, at the symposium sponsored by the Gastro-Intestinal Cancer Committee to be held in the National Institute of Health at Bethesda, Maryland.

ARMY CITES CAPT. LEONE FOR X-RAY PROGRAM IN KOREA

Army Captain, Armando F. Leone, class of 1947 has been cited for meritorious service with the medical corps in Korea. The citation, signed by Army Secretary, Robert Stevens, praises Capt. Leone's services as a member of Professional Services 21st Evacuation Hospital in Korea. The commendation ribbon with metal pendant accompanied the citation which reads as follows:

"Capt. Leone, a member of Profession Services, 21st Evacuation Hospital, is cited for meritorious services in Korea. As chief of radiology, he initiated a training program for X-ray technicians, Korean doctors and Republic of Korea Army personnel; established an X-ray clinic for Korean children and expertly provided X-ray service for numerous patients.

"Capt. Leone performed the many duties attendant to his position in a highly exemplary manner. His unusual ability, outstanding and constant devotion to duty earned him the respect and admiration of all those with whom he served and contributed materially to the success achieved by his section in accomplishing its vital mission.

"The meritorious service rendered by Capt. Leone throughout this period reflects great credit on himself and the military service."

The captain presently is chief of radiology and is attached to the U.S. Army Hospital, Fort George G. Meade, Md.

IN MEMORIAM

LINGENFELTER, DR. CLAUDE A., 70, an eye, ear and nose specialist, died August 17, 1954, at Bucyrus, Ohio. He was a graduate of our College, going to Ohio in 1908. He was a member of the class of 1906.

Dr. Lingenfelter was on the staff of Bucyrus City Hospital, retiring last year. He was a member of Crawford County and Ohio State Medical Societies. His wife Helen survives.

BALDAUF, DR. HERMAN of Belvidere, N. J., died July 13 at the age of 67. He was a graduate of New York Medical College, class of 1913.

Dr. Baldauf was chief of the Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat Department of McKinley Hospital, Trenton, N. J. He was past president of Warren County Medical Society and Physician for Warren County Welfare Board.

GREEN, DR. CRAWFORD RICHMOND died of a stroke August 14, at Troy, N. Y., where he had practiced as a physician since 1907. Born in Troy, September 8, 1881, he was the son of Dr. Arba R. Green and Lydia Richmond Green. In 1902 he was graduated from Brown University with a Bachelor of Arts Degree, and in 1906 from New York Medical College and Flower Hospital. Before retiring two years ago, he was attending physician for thirty years at Samaritan Hospital, and Medical Director of the James A. Eddy Memorial Foundation. He also served as Staff Physician at Emma Willard School and the Infirmary at Russell Sage College.

Dr. Green was a trustee of the Troy Public Library and took a keen cultural interest in the life of the city in music, art and literature. He made a bequest of 1400 books to the library and gave a collection of engravings and etchings to several institutions.

Dr. Green's affiliations included a Fellowship of the American College of Physicians; A Diplomate of the American Board of Internal Medicine; Membership of the American Medical Association; New York State Medical Association and the American Institute of Homoeopathy.

Dr. Green was one of the few remaining family physicians, dearly loved by his patients and friends. He is survived by his wife, the former Janet Greenhill Parker and two sons, Carleton Green, a professor of English Literature of the University of Hawaii, and Lt. Col. Warren J. Green, U. S. Army, stationed at Fort Hood, Texas.

PERLSTEIN, ROBERT NOAH, M.D., a graduate of New York Medical College class of 1924, died suddenly May 24 at Leahi Hospital, Hawaii.

He was Assistant Medical Director of the Hospital.

Born in Grodno, Poland, Dr. Perlstein was a naturalized citizen of the U. S. He went to Honolulu in 1928 as resident physician at the Hospital.

Dr. Perlstein was a member of the Honolulu Medical Society and active in the Scientific Works Committee of the Hawaiian Medical Association. He was specially interested in phthysiology, electrocardiography, biostatistics, medical mycology and cardio-respiratory physiology. At his death he was working on an electronic tachometer for measuring air exchange.

CAMERON, GEORGE D., JR., Braceville, Ohio received his M.D. degree from our College in 1930. Dr. Cameron had previously practiced in Bedford and Solon, as well as in Braceville and was scheduled to enter the Army Medical Corps as a lieutenant colonel on October 15th. Dr. Cameron died around the beginning of October at Trumbull Memorial Hospital of injuries reportedly received in a previous automobile accident. He was 50 years old and is survived by his widow Rose Marie, his mother of Winnfield, three daughters and two sons.

WILENSKY, DR. NATHAN DAVID, 46, died August 30, 1954, at his home 1908 Avenue K, Brooklyn. He was a graduate of our College, class '31. He was attending visiting physician of Kings County Hospital, and chief of the Vascular Clinic there. Dr. Wilensky specialized in vascular diseases, writing numerous articles on the subject, and was co-author of a recent book on peripheral vascular diseases. He served as consultant at many hospitals, including Jewish Chronic Disease; Maimonides Hospital; Brooklyn Women's Hospital; and Prospect Heights Hospital.

Dr. Wilensky was a member of the following medical societies:

- Kings County
- New York State
- American Medical Association
- Founding Fellow Clinical Society New York
- Diabetic Association
- American Heart Association—Vascular Disease Section
- Brooklyn Society of Internal Medicine
- Diplomate in Internal Medicine
- American Gerontological Society
- American Association for the Study of Arteriosclerosis
- New York Academy of Sciences
- Federation of Clinical Research.

He is survived by his wife Ruth and two children, Daniel and Edda.

GALLO, PETER A., Brooklyn, New York received his Medical Degree from our College in 1933. He was attending physician at the Methodist Hospital in Brooklyn. Dr. Gallo died on September 20th at the age of 46. He is survived by his widow Alice and two daughters, Gwendolyn Gallo and Mrs. Lois Schmeck of Rochester, New York.

INGALLS, ORLANDO C. B., Hurley, New York received his Medical Degree from our College in 1903. He interned at Cumberland Hospital and was connected with the Metropolitan Hospital. He was the radiologist in the X-ray department at Kingston Hospital, a post which he held for 25 years, retiring in 1951. Dr. Ingalls who was regarded as one of the most outstanding men in his field in the medical profession died at Kingston Hospital on October 3, 1954 where he had been a patient for eight weeks. He was a past president of the Ulster County Medical Society and a member of the Old Dutch Church, Kingston Lodge, 10, F. & A. M., the American Medical Association and the Medical Society of the State of New York. Dr. Ingalls who would have observed his 76th birthday October 11th is survived by his wife, Jane Myer Ingalls, a son, a daughter, a brother and sister and two grandchildren.

GRADUATE FORTNIGHT

The first Hospital Clinic of the 27th Graduate Fortnight of the New York Academy of Medicine was held in the auditorium of this institution on October 18th. The following program was presented:

1. Importance of X-ray Examination of the Chest.

ALUMNI FUND

Fellow Alumnus:

This marks the fifth year of the Alumni Endowment Fund. It is my singular pleasure and privilege to be one of the founder members of the Fund and it is with pleasure that I can report the following to you:

Distribution to Endowment Fund
June, 1951	$ 7,500.00
June, 1952	7,500.00
July, 1953	7,500.00
January, 1954	5,000.00
June, 1954	10,000.00
Total Contributions to Endowment Fund	$37,500.00

Our drive is on again and we are reminding you to send your check for the 1954-1955 session if you have not already done so. Those who neglected to send their check last year (and there are a few) are urgently requested to do so now. Every alumnus should do his part.

Leonard Paul Wershub '27
General Chairman

MEMBERSHIP COMMITTEE REPORT

Your Membership Committee is very happy to report that for the first time in its existence it has reached over 1,000 members. For a total alumni of 3,000, this as you can readily see is merely one-third of the total. Please, if you have not already done so, send us your check for this fiscal year so that we may obtain at least 50% membership.

Sincerely

E. EDWARD NAPP

Chairman, Membership Committee
