TO DELIVER TWO LECTURES

JOSEPH G. LOWIN, Associate Professor and Chairman of the Department of Languages and Literatures is scheduled to deliver two off-campus lectures this spring. In April, he will read a paper entitled "Peripheral Vision in Apollinaire's L'Herésiarque et Cie" at the Convention of the Northeast Modern Language Association in Pittsburgh, Pa. An expanded version of this essay is to be published in French next year in the Revue des Lettres Modernes. In late May, Prof. Lowin will read a paper "The Dream-Frame in Gautier's Contes fantastiques" at a Colloquium in Nineteenth Century French Studies at the University of Maine in Orono.

NEW LOCATION

The Office of Financial Aid is now located in Room 503; The Office of the Controller, formerly in 503, is now in Room 808.

ESSAY PUBLISHED

A short essay by GARY Wurtzel, Instructor in Communications and Sociology, will appear in the Spring 1977 edition of ETC., The Journal for the Society for General Semantics. The essay deals with a new approach to semiotic theory set forth by French anthropologist Dan Sperber in a major work on symbolism and culture. Mr. Wurtzel's essay attempts to carry through a number of unarticulated implications in Sperber's theory related to "Media and Symbolism," the theme of this edition of ETC.

PROSPECTIVE MAJORS

The Department of Languages and Literatures invites all current and prospective majors and concentrators to a spring Open House on Tuesday, April 19, 1977 at 7 p.m. in the third floor social hall. Wine and cookies will be served.

HAS YOUR ADDRESS CHANGED?
