TOURO COLLEGE SCHOOL OF LAW
HUNTINGTON, NEW YORK

Forever And Always... Believe

Believe in yourself,
what you think, what you feel,
Believe in the truth, in the good,
the ideal,
Believe that your dreams can someday become real . . .
Forever and always, believe.
Believe in yourself and in what you can do,
Believe in the goals that you
strive to pursue,
Believe in the friends who believe in you, too . . .
Forever and Always, believe.

This Book Is Dedicated To Dean John S. Bainbridge

For fulfilling the dreams of many students
Who share his great
Love and devotion
For the study of Law.
Whose hearts and Minds
Have been thoroughly enriched by his wisdom.

TOURO COLLEGE
SCHOOL OF LAW

These past three years or four years have gone like lightening for most of you. For some they have seemed interminable. But for all of you they have involved sacrifice and the investment of all your resources, above all the investment of time when time was unalloyed and quite beyond valuation. Take pride in what you have accomplished and in the craft and skills you have honed. Respect and sustain the standards of the profession you now enter and seek always to do credit to your inherent worth and dignity.

You have contributed greatly to the development of the School, and the School is grateful. Through it you have built life-time associations and made lasting friendships. I hope you will sustain these relationships, in part through the Touro Law Alumni Association. And I trust you will continue an active association with the School. You will always be welcomed here.

Please accept my warm felicitations.
I wish you all Godspeed.

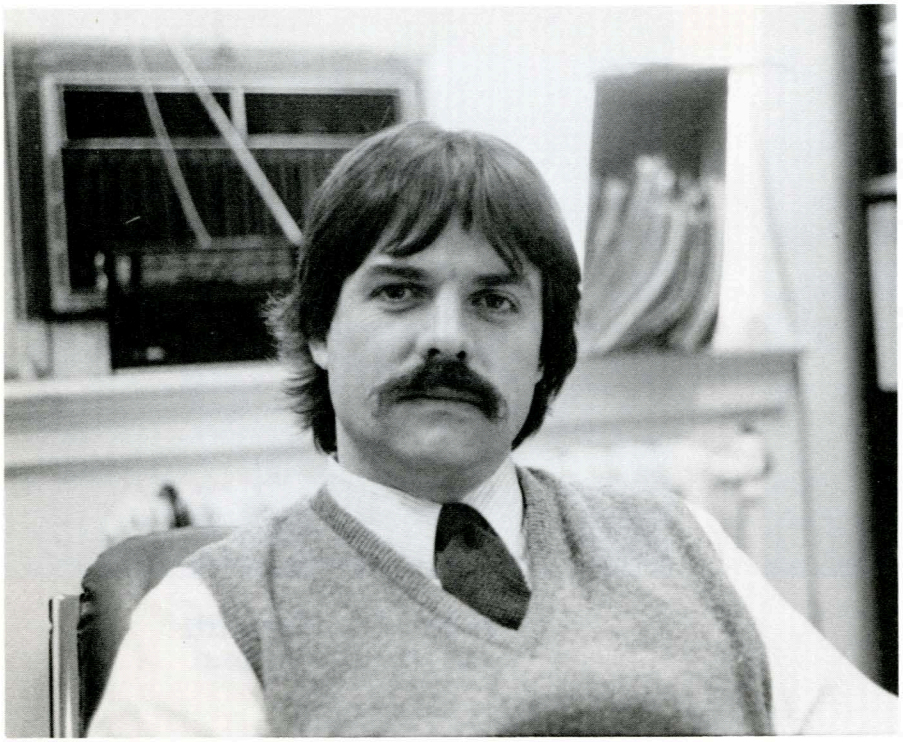
LIBRARY



LIBRARY STAFF
DAN JORDAN
Acting Head Law Librarian

The Law Library is one of the principal resources of the School. Its collection has expanded in a remarkably short period of time to over 87,000 volumes and microform equivalents. The Library is a research facility designed to encourage and support teaching, study, and scholarly research. The collection is composed of essential reporters, statutes, legal periodicals and treatises. Through the National Reporter System and other compilations, the Library has the reported cases of all state and federal courts, the sessions laws of all states, annotated federal laws, and the federal official statutes-at-large. The British collection offers a broad basic coverage of the statutory and decisional law of the United Kingdom for historical and comparative analysis, as well as for current law.

The Library currently subscribes to over 350 Anglo-American law and law related journals. These subscriptions represent a cross-section of contemporary legal scholarship published by major law schools in the United States and abroad and by professional associations. They include specialized commercial journals.

Special collections and topical reporters and treatises support the depth and range of interest of the law school community in areas such as taxation, labor relations, consumer protection, and international law. Among the materials available in the library's extensive microform holdings are United States Supreme Court Records and Briefs, selected legislative histories, Code of Federal Regulations, Federal Register, Congressional materials, and English Reporters. To strengthen its research capability, the Library has added LEXIS computerized legal research system.

IN LOVING MEMORY

ROSANNE TITOLO GOODMAN

Rosanne Titolo Goodman's spark for life and good nature touched all who knew her. Rosanne's professional and personal qualities of compassion, integrity, and courage shall serve as symbols to each of us as we graduate and may her memory guide us through honorable professional service within the legal profession. It will be very difficult for those of us who knew her to carry on without Rosanne, but we can be glad that it was our privilege to have known her in friendship, fraternal affiliation and as classmates.

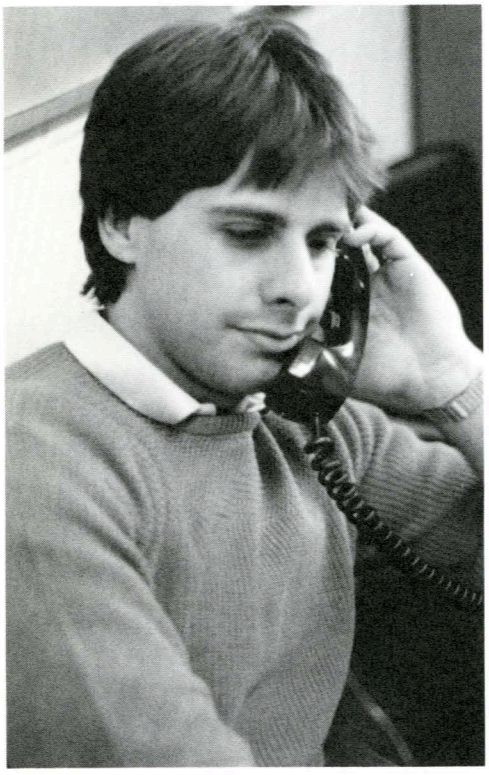
ORGANIZATIONS

Law Review



Law Review

The first issue of The Law Review was published during the Spring of 1985. The Law Review is a compilation of scholarly articles, notes, and comments about major topical issues of the law. Law Review articles are exhaustively researched and annotated, and are designed to be cited and used as references by practicing lawyers and by judges. Although articles are usually written by professors of law or other distinguished authorities, all editing is done by the student editors. In addition, it is these students who write all of the comments, notes, and some of the book reviews.

Appointment to the Law Review is a significant academic achievement. Invitation to join the staff of the Review is usually given after a student's first year of study, and is based upon the student's class rank. There is also a writing competition administered by the Review for those not invited on the basis of their academic performance alone. Those who submit the best publishable quality articles will be invited to join the Law Review Staff.

Lastly, the Law Review editorship is a unique experience, the rewards of which continue long after formal law schooling ends. It provides the opportunity to edit raw manuscripts into polished articles, a detailed analytical exposure to areas of law, the chance to discuss issues and influence the thinking of recognized authorities, and develop writing and editing skills. All of these activities are recognized as important by lawyers.

MOOT COURT BOARD

THE MOOT COURT BOARD WAS ORGANIZED IN THE FALL OF 1983, AFTER THE SUCCESSFUL COMPLETION OF THE FIRST IN-SCHOOL COMPETITION, FROM WHICH THE INITIAL BOARD OF ADVOCATES WERE SELECTED. THE SUBSTANTIAL DEGREE OF ENTHUSIASM AND PROFESSIONALISM DEMONSTRATED DURING THAT FIRST IN-SCHOOL COMPETITION, WAS LARGELY DUE TO THE EFFORTS OF PROFESSOR GARY SHAW WHO ORGANIZED THE ENTIRE EVENT.

SINCE THAT FIRST COMPETITION THE MOOT COURT BOARD HAS BEEN VERY BUSY IN DEVELOPING A STANDARD OF ACADEMIC EXCELLENCE FOR TOURO THROUGHOUT THE LEGAL COMMUNITY. THE MOOT COURT BOARD HAS SENT ADVOCATES TO ARGUE IN THE JOHN MARSHALL COMPETITION IN CHICAGO; THE TEMPLE UNIVERSITY COMPETITION IN PENNSYLVANIA; AND VARIOUS OTHER IN STATE COMPETITIONS. OUR MOST RECENT ACCOMPLISHMENT WAS WHEN MARY BETH LIDESTRI AND NINA SANTUCCI POZGAR PLACED SECOND IN THE NASSAU COUNTY BAR ASSN. COMPETITION. WE CONGRATULATE THEIR FINE ACHIEVEMENT, AND THE OTHER ADVOCATES DEDICATED EFFORTS IN MAKING THE MOOT COURT BOARD SUCH A SUCCESSFUL ORGANIZATION.

THE WOMEN'S STUDENT BAR ASSOCIATION

The Women's Student Bar Association was founded during the first year of Touro's existence. It has become an active voice on campus with a representative number of men among its executive board and membership. The Women's Student Bar Association aims to bring to light controversial legal issues relating to men and women. It sponsors a highly successful monthly speaker series at which members of the practicing bar speak on various specialties in the legal profession. It also sponsors luncheons each semester at which prominent judges and political figures offer their views on contemporary issues. The Women's S.B.A. office is a clearing house of articles, pamphlets, and other information relating to women in the law. The bulletin board outside the office provides notices of meetings of the Women's S.B.A. at Touro and at other law schools and community organizations with which it maintains cordial relationships.

THE RESTATEMENT

The student newspaper, the Restatement, is an important instrument of communication within the Law School. All members of the Touro community are invited to write for the Restatement. The Restatement provides students with an opportunity to use their newly aquired legal skills by writing on legal topics of their own choosing. The Restatement also provides a forum for the consideration of matters affecting the Law School community.
